This comprehensive report examines the South African Wine Exports from 2008 to 2012:

- Total Volume and Value
- Total exports
- Total Volume and Value (Price per Litre) by Wine Categories (Varietals)
- Detailed analysis of the top 20 export countries and the African Continent
- Red versus White Wine exports
- Bulk versus Packaged exports
- Packaged Container sizes

Examples of Key Findings

- The increase in bulk wine exports (mainly white wine, blanc de noir and rosé) to 60.7% of total natural wine exported in 2012. The long term sustainability of this trend remains uncertain.
- The top export markets in 2012 for packaged wine were the UK, Sweden, Germany, the Netherlands and USA.
- The top export markets in 2012 for bulk wine were Germany, the UK, Russia, USA and Canada.
- The export potential of African countries is largely underutilised and shows a slight decrease since 2009.
- Exports of natural (i.e. non-fortified) packaged wines for the 2012 calendar year reached 160.5m litres, a decrease of 9.7% on the previous year. Red wine exports decreased by 3.7% to account for 40% of all natural wines exported.
- Globally, according to Rabobank, the consumption of red wine is stagnating, while the consumption of white wine is on a upward trend.
